For improving operational efficiency, real-time information on cleaning needs means no time is wasted on unnecessary tasks so staff cleans where it is most needed. High-capacity Tork dispensers save time through faster refilling and fewer refill trips.

For enhancing the visitor experience, Tork high-capacity solutions and data-driven cleaning ensure hygiene products are always available and the facilities and restrooms are consistently clean.

For supporting higher hygiene standards, data-driven cleaning enables higher service quality and hygiene by knowing what is most needed, when and where – particularly during peak visitor times. This frees up time for more cleaning and high-priority cleaning tasks.
